

SECURITY MANAGEMENT

Security Management is a tool for information confidentiality, availability and integrity assurance. The global pandemic has created a wide array of paradigm shifts, the most popular and challenging of which is “Work From Home” or WFH. And while WDFH is a critical component of business continuity, it is quite surprising that many organizations take the security risks of extending the enterprise network beyond the company’s firewalls for granted.

An effective information security management system reduces the risk of crisis in the company. It also allows to reduce the effects of the crisis occurring outside the company. This is where IT security now encompasses “endpoint security or protection”.

The connection of laptops, tablets, mobile phones, Internet-of-things devices, and other wired or wireless devices to corporate networks creates attack paths for security threats. Our solutions ensure coverage to the farthest edge of the enterprise network.
